Dept. of Justice:

Please tell me by what "moral" right the government of The United States of America goes after, with such malice, one of America's greatest companies and one of this countries greatest businessmen?

Could ANYONE in the Dept. of Justice write one piece of software or produce any goods that could be marketable?

I strongly suggest that this government leave it's most productive citizens alone because what you are doing is so immoral that you are not only damaging the company Microsoft but all the millions of people who have invested in this company. He, unlike the government did not steal anyone's money but produced a product "better" than his competitors. This is precisely why he/Microsoft is being punished.

The attack on this country from within is far greater than from outside.

I urge you and your immoral laws to simply "LEAVE THEM ALONE"!
